

Never Let You Go

You must be sent from the sky,
A precious gift from up above.
If you would only hold me tight,
Could you keep me by your side?

Your eyes are stars that shine my way,
Your voice is soft as morning rain,
And though there's many things to say,
I'll have to keep it to myself.

And dream of you at night,
And wish that you were mine,
There's nothing I'd want more
Than to never let you go.

You've always been a friend of mine,
You've been there for me many times,
But now I feel this endless pain,
'cause you're in love with someone else.

I hope she loves you like I do,
Brings down the moon to shine on you.
That crosses the universe,
Just to see your face,
Living her life to be with you.

And dreams of you at night,
And wishes you were her's,
There's nothing she'd want more,
Than to never let you go.

I should have told you, you made me fly,
That your hand holding mine was my guiding light,
And it hurts me so much walking out of your life,
'Cause you'll never know why.

I dream of you at night,
And wish that you were mine,
There's nothing I'd want more,
Than to never let you go.
